

Nancy's Story:

My husband and I have been living this life for five years. Eugene is a musician, who continues to play in a band and works with a music therapist weekly. His advice is for the individual with MCI to find specific interests and pursue them. You don't mention music in the article in the WaPo, but it is an interesting aspect of brain function. We also suggest meditation