

Richard's Story:

I have early-stage Alzheimer's diagnosed upon entry to lecanemab phase III trial (one of 1,795). Now on open label trial of same drug for a year. Some MRI images were worrisome but restarted infusions after 4 week hiatus. No significant further degradation in my memory for last 3 years which implies that I was on the active drug, not the placebo in the first trial. The story in Wash. Post was very inspiring, prompting my donation.
